Cohen's Lottery and Exchange-Office.

Mec signo Fortuna.

BALTIMORE—THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1824.

The drawing of yesterday in the Grand State Lottery produced but one prize of importance, viz. No. 1460 a prize of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS. It is owned in this City.

The result of this drawing has much increased the value of the wheel in regard to the Capitals, for we had a right to expect that many more prizes would have been drawn, from the circumstance of there being NOW FLOATING no less than FORTY-SIX PRIZES OF MAGNITUDE.

This lottery is the most Brilliant in the UNITED STATES and the scheme so highly approved, as to have produced that GREAT DEMAND for the tickets, which has enabled the Commissioners not only so early to commence, but also to authorize them in progressing with the drawing EVERY WEEK.

THE CAPITAL PRIZES OF

40,000 Dolls.	5,000 Dollars.
20,000 Dolls.	5,000 Dollars.
10,000 Dolls.	27 of 1000 Dls.

18 of 500 dollars, &c. are still undrawn.

Tickets will again soon advance, adventurers therefore should forward their orders without delay:

Tickets, $12 | Quarters, $3 00
Halves, - 6 | Eighths, - 1 50

The drawing will be continued ON THURSDAY NEXT, the 2nd inst. when a portion of the large prizes may be expected. All orders for tickets from any part of the Union will as usual meet our accustomed prompt attention by first mail. Our friends will be particular in directing their letters to

J. I. COHEN, JR.
 114, Market-street, Baltimore.

Great demand for Share Tickets.

In the present scheme of the GRAND STATE LOTTERY we have had an unusual demand for share tickets—we do not know how to account for it, unless from the circumstance that the great capitals in the last State Lottery (including the great capital of ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS) were sold in shares at our office. and that such is anticipated again in the present lottery; for it will be recollected, that in the last scheme, we had the pleasure of sending the capitals in Halves Quarters and Eighths, to our distant customers, and that only a single 8th of a 5000 Dollar prize remained in Baltimore!

•• In order to accommodate our friends both in and out of the City, we shall continue to supply them with shares, at the same rate in proportion as the whole tickets.

Holders of Small Prizes

in any of the Lotteries, are recommended to forward them without delay, to COHEN'S OFFICE, Baltimore, in order to have them renewed in the GRAND STATE LOTTERY; the splendid prizes in which, (see 4th page), offers unusual attractive inducements to adventurers.

Nos. One to One Hundred.

Those of our distant friends who may wish tickets in the GRAND STATE LOTTERY, of Numbers corresponding with the ages of themselves, their children or relatives, have now the opportunity of procuring them, by sending on their orders immediately, as the Books containing these Numbers are now on sale at COHEN'S OFFICE, and as they are usually much sought after, owing to the fancy of adventurers, we would advise early application in order to prevent disappointment.

Remittances to Cohen's Office.

Distant adventurers may at all times with confidence forward their remittances to COHEN'S OFFICE, for if the great Capitals in the scheme should be drawn when their orders arrive, and the state of the wheel not justify an investment, the amount enclosed will be returned by the first mail, or will be invested in some other scheme about to be drawn, if the adventurer should so direct.

CAUTION TO DISTANT ADVENTURERS.

Direction of Letters.—We beg permission to request our friends and customers residing in distant places, to be particular in directing their letters to J. I. COHEN JR. BALTIMORE. It will thereby prevent mistakes in being sent to another office, the name of which on paper, appears similar, and to which we understand, several letters have heretofore been directed on the supposition that the name was ours.

LA FAYETTE.—The English Journals are far from concurring, all, in the studied sneering and ridicule of the London Courier, in relation to the reception of Gen. La Fayette in this country—The Liverpool Mercury contains the annexed observations, which are such as might have been expected from an enlightened journal of any country.

"General La Fayette who is travelling in the U. States, is every where received with the same enthusiastic welcome which marked his landing on the American shores. The public prints of that country (which we regret we have not room to quote) devote a large portion of their columns to the details of his interesting journey: and the deep feeling of patriotism and joy which his presence inspires, though to a cold observer it may appear, romantically intense, must afford the veteran soldier of Independence a gratification which monarchs might envy, and is highly honorable to American character. We would think little indeed of any country that could forget the services of an early & disinterested friend; and he too, a foreigner; and we should, perhaps, better compliment a free people by considering such a demonstration of national gratitude as a matter of course, than holding it up as an example of patriotic virtue."

The London Magazine holds similar language on the subject.

"Having just detailed the fate of one ambitious enemy (Irturbe) to the cause of freedom, we turn with pleasure to the contrast which the arrival of the friend of freedom in the same hemisphere produces.—We might fill an entire number with the compliment paid to General La Fayette on his landing in America. The whole population received him with open arms and his progress through the country has been one continued triumph. The account of his meeting with the few surviving soldiers of the revolutionary war is peculiarly affecting. La Fayette seems to be considered in fact as the guest of the whole nation—a nation of which he may be said to be one of the parents. What, and how enviable, now must be his sensations! A few years since he found her a petty province, struggling fearlessly, against oppression—he now revisits her, free and flourishing, a mighty nation, likely to retrieve and transmit all that is valuable amongst men!

Miscellaneous Intelligence.

A meeting of Mechanics and Manufacturers has been called in Philadelphia, to agree on a National Exhibition of Manufactures at Washington in January—and to establish, for those of Philadelphia, a General Warehouse in Philadelphia. A Committee of publication has been appointed who are to print in the papers, every Saturday, extracts or original articles useful to Mechanics or Manufacturers.

Naval Court Martial.—Commodore Bainbridge arrived in New York on Friday. We understand that he is to preside at a General Court Martial to be held at the Navy Yard, Brooklyn, for the trial of Lieut. Weaver, and several other officers of the Navy.

Fire.—On Monday Morning, several books and papers, among which was a MS. copy of the Digest of the Laws of Louisiana, belonging to the Hon. Edward Livingston of New Orleans, were destroyed by fire in a room occupied by Mr. L. at No. 66, Broadway, New York.

The Deaf and Dumb.—The rapidity and exactness with which intelligence and expressions are communicated between the Deaf and Dumb, and to them by the appropriate signs, are truly extraordinary.—Long sentences, suggested by strangers, are thus communicated, understood and written down by the pupil without missing a word necessary to the meaning, and often in the exact words of the stranger.

American Packet Ship.—The Philadelphia Gazette says, "the elegant packet ship Algonquin, Capt. Dixey, attracted as much admiration at Liverpool as at Philadelphia, and it is calculated that, altogether, not less than twenty thousand persons have inspected her cabins. None who see this vessel can fail to be struck with her beauty, and the best judges of ship building concur in pronouncing her a model of excellence as a merchantman.

Savannah Trade.—The exports of Cotton and Rice from Savannah, in Oct. 1824. Uplands 1644, s. island 2, Rice 0. Same period in 1823, uplands 4627, s. island 187. Rice 139. Decrease, uplands 2983, sea island 185, rice 139. In Oct. 1823, 930 bales of Cotton were exported abroad directly. In Oct. 1824, the exports were coastwise, principally for the flourishing northern manufactories.

It is commonly estimated that the half of the port wine, and five-sixths of the whole wines consumed in London, are the produce of the home presses,—are mixtures of cape wines, British brandy, molasses, and what are called sweets. It is added, that Guernsey is one of the favourite seats of the adulterators. In the year 1812, it appears by the Custom House Books, that one hundred and thirty five pipes and twenty hogsheads were the amount of the foreign wine imported into Guernsey. In the very same years, the quantity of wine brought from Guernsey and landed at the London Docks, was two thousand five hundred and forty five pipes, and one hundred sixty two hogsheads.

An old lady in this town, of the age of 86, who had lost all her teeth several years ago, has to the astonishment of her friends, cut six new teeth within these few months, and, as may be supposed, enjoys no small satisfaction at being able once more to bite a crust. But there is an old gentleman living not many doors from her, upwards of 97 years of age, who has not lost one of his teeth, and is able to crack the hardest sea-biscuit. What is still more remarkable, he can read and write without the aid of spectacles. About three years ago we took occasion to mention that there were six persons living within a few doors of each other, whose united ages amounted to 508 years, but the two above mentioned alone remain to tell the adventures of the notable year of 45.—Dumfries Journal.
